Heritage Lottery Fund

A belated Happy New Year to all our readers.

We have had a very busy start to 2015 working to prepare our Stage 1 submission to the Heritage Lottery Fund, an application form of almost 9,000 words plus 26 supporting appendices.

The submission button was pressed on Wednesday 4th February, 24 hours before the deadline.

But it is now a long wait until the HLF Panel meets in June 2015.

So keep your fingers and anything else you wish, crossed.

WEBSITE

We now have our own website, thanks to Paul Woodhead at No Worries IT and Simon France of L'boro Local.

Local Donations.

The project has received support from a number of local organizations; the Littleborough Co-op presented us with a cheque for £200, whilst the Littleborough Prosecution Society and Graham Poole Road Transport Ltd both gave donations of £140. Many thanks to them all.

A huge thanks to the family of the late Malcolm McCormick for the generous donation following Malcolm's funeral.

Progress Report

We have our first actual evidence that there is demand for our proposed office /studio space. Our first studios have been let to Oblivious to the Obvious, a local band for rehearsals and Lee Lorimer Photography has established a studio.

We have finally been given the key to the one remaining room in the House, the former Cash Office, unfortunately we found no cash! It does, however, give us chance to finally clear and tidy the space for our use.

Our volunteer photographer has been busy producing information boards for various features within the House. Take a look next time we open the House.

Hare Hill Heroes

We have an increasing and dedicated group of volunteers, the Hare Hill Heroes, who help in a wide variety of ways. We aim to provide a quick sketch about one of our volunteers each month. This month we feature Richard Simpson.

Richard turned up at the very first workday and has not missed an opportunity to help out. Why did he get involved? Because Hare Hill House should belong to, and be used by, the residents of Littleborough. The Hare Hill Heroes are a great group of people where everyone's contribution is valued and appreciated. What volunteering does Richard do? He is a regular volunteer at our workdays, clearing, painting and odd jobbing. He also frequently helps out as a steward at our events and open days.

Many thanks Richard for all your contributions and friendship.
